

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates. The cable ownership cap is a crucial element of our democratic media, and it should not be weakened.

Only those Americans with access to a computer can get a balanced view point of global activities. It is sad that in a country that supposedly values free speech, they will find none from media monopolies
